

The Association for Preservation Technology International Association internationale pour la préservation et ses techniques

David Fischetti Award

Established in 2017, the David Fischetti Award is presented by the Preservation Engineering Technical Committee for an outstanding article that advances the field of conservation engineering. The first award was made in 2018.

- 2024 S. Krishnachandran, Arun Menon, and Karunakar Reddy Kurri, "Madras Terrace Construction: Seismic Upgrade of a Historic Composite Floor Slab System," published in the International Journal of Architectural Heritage, Vol. 17, No. 8 (2022).
- 2021 Arne Johnson, PE, SE; John Lawler, PE; and Michael Murphy, PE; "Lessons in Galvanic Cathodic Protection Technology from Soldier Field and the Franklin Avenue Bridge," APT BULLETIN: The Journal of Preservation Technology, Vol. 50, no. 2–3 (2019).
- 2020 Tom Nehil, PE; "Determining Design Stresses from Strength Values," Timber Framing, Journal of the Timber Framers Guild, no. 127 (March 2018).
- 2019 Vishal M. Joshi and Hemant B. Kaushik, "Historic Earthquake-Resilient Structures in Nepal and Other Himalayan Regions and Their Seismic Restoration," Earthquake Spectra, 33, no. S1 (December 2017): S299-S319.
- 2018 Angelo Gaetani, Giorgio Monti, Paulo B. Lourenco, and Giancarlo Marcari, "Design and Analysis of Cross Vaults Along History," International Journal of Architectural Heritage, 10, no. 7 (2016).