

Preservation Project Architect

2/15/2022

Designing Community since 1982, Fisher Heck Architects is a San Antonio based organization of architects, planners, and interior designers providing design and consulting services throughout Texas. Fisher Heck is dedicated to designing projects that strengthen and benefit communities. We are recognized for our expertise in Urban Revitalization and Historic Preservation. The firm also specializes in the areas of higher education, institutional design, religious architecture, and residential design. Our expertise allows us to complete projects using proper preservation techniques. We also are known for our handsome adaptive reuse projects that do not require faithful replication of the original design. Projects completed by Fisher Heck have been honored with awards from the San Antonio Conservation Society, Preservation Texas, the San Antonio AIA, and the Texas Historical Commission.

At Fisher Heck Architects, we have experience working on projects listed as local, state, and national landmarks, as well as UNESCO World Heritage Sites. This experience includes Condition Assessments, Preservation Master Plans, HABS Documentation, National Register Nominations, Design Guidelines for Historic Districts, Materials Research, Historic Tax Credit process, Historic Structures Reports, and design/construction documents for renovation, rehabilitation, preservation, and reconstruction.

Position Opening: Preservation Project Architect/Manager

Location: San Antonio, TX

Candidate Qualifications:

Licensed Architect in Texas

Minimum 10 years' professional experience.

Proficient in REVIT – Drafting is required.

In-depth knowledge of construction detailing/systems.

Self-Motivated.

Lead small project teams, reporting directly to a principal.

Ability to lead a team through all phases of design and construction.

Ability to think critically and make decisions.

Ability to effectively communicate and create consensus with clients.

Ability to effectively coordinate with consultants and regulatory authorities.

We ask that only qualified individuals send their resume and short portfolio to Mark Navarro, AIA, President – MNavarro@fisherheck.com. Fisher Heck Architects provides competitive salary and benefits including work-from-home 2 days a week, 401k match, short-term disability, medical, dental, paid vacation and holidays, and more!